
Drive Simplicity, Accuracy And Confidence With Our Multi-dimensional Report

THE CHALLENGE

For any company, private or public, ensuring accurate accounting and resource usage information are as important as running a great business.

Unfortunately, this information is usually difficult to collect and analyze. If your organization is using a hybrid or multicloud strategy, gathering and comparing these reports from all of your cloud providers each month only adds to the challenge of staying on top of your cloud infrastructure.

It helps instill confidence in the business and management. CloudHealth Reports help customers achieve greater visibility and transparency to close books in time and be more efficient in their cloud environment. Because CloudHealth pulls this data from an organization's cloud service provider, these reports are still subject to delays—which could mean a longer turnaround time for those responsible for closing the books at the end of each month. We knew this was still causing headaches for our customers, so we sought out to fix it.

CLOUDHEALTH DRIVES GRANULARITY FOR BETTER DECISION MAKING

No more! With our new enterprise grade reporting, customers can now access and view granular information about their cost and usage in a single report, helping them close their books sooner and more confidently than ever before. This new automated report processes bills from Amazon Web Services with ease so you don't need to refer to multiple reports, bringing the processing time down from days to minutes. Users can create customized reports on the fly for usage, cost, and amortization for any tag from their bill. API integration makes this report easy to access, integrate and use.

This new way of reporting lets you import more data than before and enables you to slice and dice information more effectively. Pull more resource usage, capacity planning, and governance level information into a single report for complete transparency of your cloud environment. Is your organization struggling to model showback or chargeback? This report gets you one step closer to your goal of increased accountability and control.

For global companies with multiple business units, this report makes it easy to collect, present and distribute their cost and usage information. Similarly, managed service providers can use this report to breakdown information on an individual customer level with just a few clicks.
